Antonín Dvořák, the most famous Czech composer, wrote his Suite in New York, partly with typical Afro-american spiritual idioms. V. J. Tomášek reminds here typical rhythms of F. Liszt - but during appearance this piece, Liszt was just 7 years old! J. N. Nardelli is a sister of Mrs. Šárka Nečasová - and prematurely died J. Ježek, a huge individuality as in classical as in popular music, is presented here by three pieces for theatre.

Antonín Dvořák (1841-1904): Suite in A major, Op. 98

- I. Moderato
- II. Molto vivace
- III. Allegretto
- IV. Andante
- V. Allegro

Václav Jan Tomášek (1774-1850): Dithyramb in E major, Op. 65 No. 2

Jindra Nečasová Nardelli (1960): Space Cathedrals

Jaroslav Ježek (1906-1942): Isabel-Valse
